Press release on banning entry to the Russian Federation to representatives of the Baltic states hostile to our country

The Baltic states' hostile policy towards Russia – namely, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia relentlessly lobbying for sanctions against our country, their interference in Russia's internal affairs, persecution of the Russian-speaking population, the massive barbaric campaign for the demolition of monuments to Soviet soldiers-liberators, attempts to rewrite history, the glorification of Nazism, as well as the criminal policy pursued by the Baltic states to keep sending the Kiev regime many weapons – has prompted retaliatory measures against the individuals involved in these crimes.

Recently, Russia has added 347 citizens of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, including ministers, parliament members, public figures and journalists, to its “stop list.” The table below includes representatives of the Baltic states from that list who are the most hostile to Russia.
